
Homework - name this throw

Posted by Stephen - 2008/06/05 10:09

{youtube}gzmbb_gA6-Y{/youtube}

What throw is Mitchell using at 39 seconds?

(if you miss it the first time its repeated straight afterwards)

=====

Re:Homework - name this throw

Posted by Dr Leadbeater - 2008/06/05 11:09

I have looked at this throw several times and I believe that it could be classed as a reasonable (and successful) attempt at Yoko Gake.

I also must ask why the corner judges are giving score signals before the Referee, infact they should only give a signal if they DISAGREE with the score.

The Referee does not have to hold his hand in the Osae Komi signal for the full 20 seconds of the hold down.

=====

Re:Homework - name this throw

Posted by Stephen - 2008/06/05 11:20

Trust you to notice that eh?

Anyone would think that you know about refereeing, would you explain why?

=====

Re:Homework - name this throw

Posted by Dr Leadbeater - 2008/06/05 11:29

The Center Ref is controlling the fight, the corner Judges are there to ASSIST, if the 2 corner judges disagree with the Ref then they should signify in the manner described according to the rules AFTER the call has been made, but they DO NOT indicate a score BEFORE the Referee in the middle.

He must make the call and THEN look towards a corner for confirmation or denial of his call.

=====

Re:Homework - name this throw

Posted by Stephen - 2008/06/05 11:38

I must admit, this event was my first stint at being a referee, I fortunatley was not in that video, what you say makes perfect sense, (for once)

The big guy without the suit and tie is Kevin (shinto) and it was also a first for him, so we were picking up advice and tips from the knowledgeable ones, as this forum is a good way to educate on all aspects of Judo, the more information you give the better, maybe you can open a thread on refereeing and demontrate where the mistakes are etc

=====

Re:Homework - name this throw

Posted by Ptnippon - 2008/06/05 16:26

Kosoto gake

=====

Re:Homework - name this throw

Posted by Stephen - 2008/06/05 16:34

Hi Paul,

By no means do I question your understanding of the throw.

Would you be kind enough to tell me the difference between this Kosoto gake and a yoko Otoshi or Yoko Gake,

=====

Re:Homework - name this throw

Posted by Ptnippon - 2008/06/05 20:02

I'm going to answer your question with a question. Is yoko gake a yoko sutemi waza? Is kosoto gake a yoko sutemi waza? Do you think tori initiated the throw thinking he was going to do a sutemi waza?

=====

Re:Homework - name this throw

Posted by Stephen - 2008/06/05 22:37

Mmm, that will teach me wont it eh!!

Q. Do I think he was going for sutemi waza?

A. No, I think Mitchell would agree that he was going for it at all, it just kind of worked well, and his hand and body rotation pulled Uke into an Ippon,

At first I had this throw as more of a yoko otsohi due to Ukes landing, I have looked at the video again and again, and can understand why its a ko soto gake, his leg does actually hook to the rear of Uke first, and doesnt slide down to his side etc,

I think one of the biggest problems are with interpretations of many of the images of techniques,

<http://shintojudo.co.uk/images/fbfiles/images/kosotogake.gif> kosoto gake

=====

Re:Homework - name this throw

Posted by Stephen - 2008/06/05 22:52

<http://shintojudo.co.uk/images/fbfiles/images/yokogake.gif> Yoko gake

=====

Re:Homework - name this throw

Posted by Stephen - 2008/06/05 22:54

<http://shintojudo.co.uk/images/fbfiles/images/yokootoshi.gif> and Yoko otoshi

The image which looks like the action of Uke is the last one, but obviously its tori doing the throw, when you look at Mitchells Legs at the beginning of the throw and Ukes position, it becomes more apparent,

Thank you Paul

=====

Re:Homework - name this throw

Posted by Dr Leadbeater - 2008/06/06 01:28

I will defer to the Superior knowledge of Nogaki Sensei, it looked to me as if Tori was performing Yoko Sutemi Waza, but as stated was the YSW deliberate ?? perhaps not.

=====

Re:Homework - name this throw

Posted by Tiger - 2008/06/06 19:26

kosoto gake

=====

Re:Homework - name this throw

Posted by Ptnippon - 2008/06/06 20:38

Tiger wrote:
kosoto gake

Right On!!

=====

Re:Homework - name this throw

Posted by Ash - 2008/06/11 14:51

I think its Yoko Gake by the way the opponent goes off balance before the throw

=====

Re:Homework - name this throw

Posted by Darkslide632 - 2008/06/11 23:04

I'm at a loss for why the throw at 39 seconds would be kosoto gake. I guess I need to watch it a few more times and re-read ptnippon sensei's posts again. I would have called it yoko otoshi I think...

In response to ptnippon's question - Based on the video alone, I absolutely think that tori was attempting sutemi waza.

Are we sure we're all talking about the same throw, and not just the first throw in the video?

=====

Re:Homework - name this throw

Posted by Ptnippon - 2008/06/12 00:44

In my opinion tori was not attempting to a yoko sutemi waza. If he was, then it would be yoko gake. However based on tori's initial movement and drive, I believe was trying for kosoto gake, was too far away and dropped.

=====

Re:Homework - name this throw

Posted by Darkslide632 - 2008/06/12 01:46

Yoko gake was my initial thought... Actually nidan kokosoto gari was initially what I thought he attempted, then I changed to yoko gake and finally settled on some kid of yoko otoshi. I would concede yoko gake I guess, though I was always taught that uke's leg should be knocked from under him, rather than being blocked and pulled over it.

I thought tori clearly attacked with sutemi waza, but I imagine that debate could go on for a long time so I'll just agree to disagree, though I mean no disrespect by doing so.

=====

Re:Homework - name this throw

Posted by judoScott - 2008/06/12 03:44

My first thought when I saw it was yoko gake, I wasn't looking at what he was attempting but what he actually did.

=====